Since TAs are involved in many classes today, the role and competence of the TA is the key to creating higher quality classes. This year's TA training seminar is designed to deepen understanding of the role of TAs as educators and their basic attitudes, and to provide support for grading reports.

We look forward to a wide range of participants, including not only graduate students who are planning to become TAs, but also newly hired teachers and teachers who will use TAs in their classes.
